

York Region's award winning Water for Tomorrow program is once again offering free lawn and garden consultations for residents of York Region. The programs provide free advice to educate residents on how to create beautiful landscapes without using a lot of water. As a partner with York Region, we are pleased to share the Water for Tomorrow program with our community.

Sign up now for Water for Tomorrow's FREE Lawn and Garden consultations to receive personalized garden design advice. Water for Tomorrow's trained advisors will visit your home and help identify ways to reduce water use while creating a beautiful landscape. Each visit is personalized, ask for general advice or specific questions about problems areas in your lawn and garden. If you are looking for garden design ideas, help with insect problems or you just want a healthier lawn, we are here to help! This service is provided free to residents of York Region. Register online at www.waterfortomorrow.ca or by calling 1-888-967-5426.
